

We went through 32 points this sprint. This was a decrease in points compared to the previous sprint's velocity.

There was a large plateau during the first week, due to the assignment for this class taking a lot of time. We agreed to hold off on the project as a team for the first week and had no standups. Although there was more progress in the next week, not all tasks were completed by the end of the sprint due to multiple midterms happening in the second week.

The majority of tasks assigned during the sprint being incomplete indicates the need for a higher sprint velocity in the next sprint. This can be achieved by starting tasks earlier in the sprint, with most tasks being started in the first week of sprint 4.
